

Battery fire communications toolkit

We've created a communications toolkit to help you spread the message that batteries and electricals should never be binned, and should always be recycled separately from household rubbish or recycling.

This toolkit includes social media copy and assets, an internal newsletter template, strut cards, till screen templates and A4 posters.

We can happily personalise assets for you - please get in touch with nick@materialfocus.org.uk for more information, or if you require any other assets not included in the toolkit.
